About This Game

Divided We Fall is a close-combat multiplayer game with team-driven strategy at its core set in various battlefields of the Second World War.

The four soldiers under your command rely on you to keep them alive, and your commander relies on you to achieve your objectives. Doing both will require effective use of terrain for cover, smart positioning, and taking advantage of the strengths and weaknesses of different weapons. And never forget that Divided We Fall... work together with your teammates and everyone's chances of survival go up!

Hone your skills in PvP or Cooperative battles in anything from quick 1 vs 1 skirmishes to massive conflicts with up to 120 soldiers commanded by up to 15 players per team. In team games, working together is paramount! If you are the highest ranking officer, you will draw out your battle plan and distribute weapons to your subordinates through an in-game map board interface.

But as a lower ranking leader you still have the responsibility to lead your squad to achieve the objective set by your commander, and coordinate with friendly players to adapt the plan within the chaos of battle.

Forge strong bonds of brotherhood in this intense multiplayer combat, for Divided we Fall...

Not too bad, if you could add maybe an express route or a rail replacement service, that would be great! Overall, it seems brilliant! :) Very detailed map!!. previous Geneforge 4 review

Geneforge 5

Graphics: Better graphics and lighting effects than the previous four Geneforge.

Control: Nice and not-so-clear dramatic tutorial, fixed key binding.

Replayability: Somewhat High.

The cliché of this game is... you are amnesic! hurray! But most of the important characters know who you are... and none of them will tell you out of the kindness of their hearts. All of them will exploit you and profit of the actions of the 'mysterious stranger'. You can be an obedient Shaper tool and happily slaughter Rebel scum and Unbound, the Mad Lizard's mad glowing lizards. I killed about 20 Unbound, if I missed some I will appreciate information on their whereabouts to clean Terrestria for good.

Of course you can be Rebel scum as well but... Why?

The narrative is good, the freedom is back. I enjoyed playing Geneforge 5 almost as much as Geneforge 1.

The Geneforge Saga is a perfect cycle: You know who you are but not where you are to you don't know/remember who you are but you know where you are.

Things I learned:

-Serviles smell bad.

-Uss is Drakon speech for 'Fort'.

-Drakons become duller every next game.

-Wingbolts are OP

-I got the 'pleasure' of killing Greta and Ghaldring... again.

The end. One of the best Visual Novels that you can play on Steam at the moment. One that excels at characterization, at the end of the journey you'll feel empathy for almost all the characters of the game, many tragic moments that have a powerful effect on you, because of the affection you've gained for them during the journey. They have all a deep background story and motivations for all the actions they'll take during the VN.

It's not a VN about the plot twists and the end result, it's about the journey you have with the characters and the world.

Don't get me wrong, it has some really good plot twists and intriguing mysteries, but it's not the main focus and strongest point of the VN.

I liked all of Nakazawa's Visual Novels, but they are really different and not comparable, they have elements in common but that's it, I/O for example did not have as much focus on the characters as in Root Double, but the worldbuilding was even more believable, and the overall plot really complex and it didn't give you the answers at the end whereas Root Double answers all your questions!

Compared to Remember11 it's even more different, Route A with more focus on tension and pacing of the story is the most similar section you'll find in Root Double.

But the rest of the vn, especially the second half is entirely different than anything he's done before!. Fun game but the bots are heavily programmed to "cheat" i.e. they just disappear and spawn closer to the targets constantly.

Worth it in a bundle only due to this.

No gamer likes feeling cheated.. Cool uniforms, and decent loadouts.. An absolutely wonderful game that I love. The main meat of the game is the gunplay and it handles it really well. All the weapons feel really good and most of them can be dual wielded. There is this gun in the game that allows you to cut some metal. Hence, you can make a small peak hole in some metal and shoot through there. Hence, have good cover while being able to shoot back. The game also lets you lean over or around cover. Hence, that is a viable play style.

You can also do run and gun pretty well, because the guns kill fast and you run fast too so you don't have to worry about taking too much damage. There are a few times you can't choose between these two play styles, because either a giant robot won't die fast enough so you have to take cover or you'll die instantly or, because there simply isn't any cover and you are surrounded and that's great, because it makes you switch up your playstyle a little.

Your main enemies will be basic nazi soldiers that you have seen before so nothing unique with them. There are a few more special ones though like the aforementioned nazi robots or the guard dogs to give the game a bit more variety. The gunplay isn't that unique, but it's really fun and if you like fps games, you'll love this one.

The game also has mediocre stealth which while not great, it's still decent. It's just the basic shoot them in the head with a silenced pistol and that's it. You can't move the bodies and there isn't an indicator when you are getting spotted, but you are never forced into it so it isn't that bad. There is a part of a game in a concentration camp and with better stealth mechanics and more openness, you could make a separate game out of the concept alone.

The story and the world are quite good. The game starts in 1946 when the allies are desperately attacking Germany. Then the main character falls into coma and wakes up in the year 1960 where the nazis conquered the world with the use of nuclear weapons. I love it. The world is a mix of nazism, the 60's and sci-fi and it all fits pretty well together somehow. Haven't seen this mix of concepts before. It's cool to see this sci-fi nazi technology like the giant robots and the laser guns. At the end, the main villain shows you something so cruel that when I first saw it, it horrified me. There are fates worse than death and the idea of going through that makes you wish for death.

The main missions also take you to a variety of different locations meaning you are never going through identical looking corridors where you get lost all the time. The level design is good and the maps have a lot of secrets in them. Sadly there are a few boring parts like the times you are underwater. Honestly why is swimming added to these games? I can't think of the last time I enjoyed swimming in a video game. There is also a secret Wolfenstein 3d level that is a nice little easter egg. Similar levels should be shown in more games in my opinion.

One thing that really annoys me is the perk system. The way you get new perks are by doing these challenges. On paper this isn't that bad, but the challenges are boring and repetitive. There are a few that are just kill a certain amount of nazis with the assault rifle. I don't mind that, that's just a bit dull and uninspired. What I do mind though are the tedious ones. There is this one where you have to get 5 indirect grenade kills. The way you do this is you wait behind cover for 2 minutes until one of the nazis yells grenade. Then you try to figure out who yelled it and you shoot him to drop it the grenade. The nazis won't flinch from just a few bullets, but they will die from just a few bullets meaning you have to make sure you get the exact right amount of bullets in them so they won't either ignore them or die by them. Doing that challenge is infuriating. You might think that you can just ignore that, but for someone like me, that's basically impossible. Maybe I'm just too much of a perfectionist and I really wish I was capable of ignoring those challenges.

Overall it's a fantastic game that I would highly recommend if you enjoy shooting people in games or in real life.. 5/5 best game. omg this game is so amazing there needs to be a sequel. A bit short but I'm rather fast with HOGs and this one is pretty straightforward and linear, so the game was fast. The graphics are very good, some of the scenes are gorgeous. The sounds and music are okay, voices are nice. The minigames are very well done. The HOG scenes are really gorgeous. The items can sometimes be hard to find, and a couple of items were mislabeled, but on the whole the HOGs scenes are of above average quality: very beautiful and challenging. Searching all the scenes with the medallion is fun and the idea is original, so kudos for that, devs.

The story is a fantasy tale, very cliché but it holds up fine. The game was unvoluntarily funny a couple of times, being a bit overreact and cheesy but that made it fun; the cutscenes are well done.

I really liked it, played it in one go because I constantly wanted to see next scene. It's like a good Artifex Mundi, without the deadly serious tone. I'm fine with the game being a bit short since I got it for sale with a nice discount, 3 hours is a good minimum for a good HOG.

(There's a problem with the game EXE erroneously being flagged as a virus and I had to deactivate my AV to be able to play the game.)

No one really plays it, but if you'd like a slimmed down single player game where you shoot down nazis and dinosaurs, it's a good compliment to the multiplayer game. If you can get a few friends involved it might be even better.. very very short, not worth the money, finished it twice in under 20 mins, and twice because i thought it might have different ending senarios, i was dead wrong pshh. Totally playable and totally unplayable at the same time!

Almost too indie for its own good, 1/2 arcade game 1/2 arthouse.

This game is a paradox and I'm glad it exists.

I salute the creativity!. It gives you seacret 5 kills scorestreak and it's a Great Panda that has red bandana and L.M.G. akimbos and it kills all living things on the map. 10/10 would recommend IGN.

BTW panda is celebrating 420 blazin' it...Just look at it's eyes.... If you like the classic rpg game, this was a pretty sweet game. I rather enjoyed the storyline and how it got all these different people to interact. It was a rather solid story with cool game play. THere was some lack of guiding, but it was a pretty awesome game, overall.. Trash. Vehicle breaks within 3 seconds of playing, because i hit a wall once, or someone who started right behind me shoots me instantly.

The game had much potential but all is wasted. Completely unplayable.
